

THE GOVERNANCE VISIBILITY GAP

-- Why boards are still in the dark and how to fix it --

(Executive Programme Featuring a Live Digitised Governance Framework Demonstration)

EXECUTIVE BRIEF

Over the past decade, directors have invested heavily in understanding fiduciary duties, governance codes, and board responsibilities.

Boards understand their duties - but often lack clear, evidenced-based visibility of how governance actually operates inside the organisation.

Many boards today are technically compliant and well-intentioned - yet still experience:

- Limited line-of-sight between board decisions and operational reality
- Fragmented assurance
- Over-reliance on narrative reporting
- Governance frameworks that exist in documents rather than in motion
- Difficulty demonstrating governance maturity to regulators, investors, and other stakeholders

This Executive Programme addresses the missing layer.

INTRODUCING THE DIGITISED GOVERNANCE FRAMEWORK (DGF)

A Digitised Governance Framework does not replace governance codes, policies or board structures. It connects them into a visible, testable, and evidence-based system of oversight.

The programme explores critical questions many experienced leaders were never formally trained to ask:

- How do board duties translate into systems of control?
- Where does combined assurance actually live?
- How can governance maturity be demonstrated objectively?
- How do the board, Company Secretary, GRC, and Internal Audit see the same governance landscape?
- How does reporting move from narrative to verifiable insight?

“If governance is the system by which organisations are directed and controlled, then it must be visible, connected, and demonstrable - not assumed.”

WHO SHOULD ATTEND

The programme is designed for:

- Board members and non-executive directors
- Audit and risk committee members
- Company secretaries
- Chief risk officers and GRC leaders
